A short business session was called order by President William A. Ar-

President Arnold stated that 20 tickets had been placed among the members for the annual banquet of the state association to be held in Hartford the 19th of this month, and said e would try to obtain other tickets if nyone present desired to go. He then introduced the speaker of the evening, Howell Cheney, of Man-chester, whose address was upon Voational Education.

Mr. Cheney was a splendid, forceful talker, setting forth the case of the trade school in a most convincing manheard at the meetings of the best heard at the meetings of the associa-tion for some time. The remarks were prefaced by a story of the speaker's introduction to factory life, which oc-curred in this city at the American

The reasons for vocational schools part-time schools, etc., their methods and some examples of present schools, were fluently presented by Mr. Cheney. The cost of starting a school of that nature and running it the first year, he estimated at $8,000. At present many children were coming from the sixth grade instead of the eighth, he said, and many of them were those who were back of children of their own age in development or schooling, but the brigater child is beginning to see the advantages to be gained from the courses and coming into the Brook Causes Trouble and Loss. After the flood experiences of Sunday in Danielson there is a demand from many quarters for an investiga-tion for the purpose of determining some manner of controlling the brook that flows from near the Old People's home down, underground, to the Congregational church, under Academy and Center streets, across properties to Furnace street, and eventually into the Assawauga river. This brook, during freshet periods, has been a cause of damage for many years. It is also a nuisance in other ways, and at times has been used as a sewer. Some property erty owners who have been caused damage by reason of the fact that it overslows, have reached the point of exasperation over the matter and want, some action taken to prevent future happenings like that of Sunday, when the brook was to blame for most of the trouble and damage.

Smokeless Frying!

Frying with Crisco means a sweet, smokeless kitchen. For Crisco does not smoke at frying temperature. The potatoes and doughnuts, etc., become almost instantly a crisp brown. There is no "lardy" taste.

Crisco costs about the same per net pound as the best pail lard.

There is no loss through rancidity, as Crisco stays fresh and pure indefinitely in ordinary kitchen temperature.

Foods fried in Crisco absorb less, because they fry so fast and brown so readily.

The same Crisco may be used for all frying. You can fry fish, onions, doughnuts, etc., all in the same Crisco. Merely strain out food particles after each frying. This is a further saving.
